COMMUNITY SCHOOL

Preventing Extremism and Radicalisation Policy

Updated: September 2023
Review cycle: Yearly

1. Introduction

Crestwood Community School is committed to providing a secure environment for students, where children feel safe and are kept safe. All adults at Crestwood Community School recognise that safeguarding is everyone's responsibility irrespective of the role they undertake or whether their role has direct contact or responsibility for children or not.

In adhering to this policy, and the procedures therein, staff and visitors will contribute to Crestwood Community School's delivery of the outcomes to all children, as set out in s10 (2) of the Children Act 2004*. This Preventing Extremism and Radicalisation Policy is one element within our overall school arrangements to Safeguard and Promote the Welfare of all Children in line with our statutory duties set out at s175 of the Education Act 2002 (s157 of the Education Act 2002).

Our school's Preventing Extremism and Radicalisation Safeguarding Policy also draws upon the guidance contained in DfE Guidance "Keeping Children Safe in Education, 2014"; and specifically DCSF Resources "Learning Together to be Safe", "Prevent: Resources Guide", "Tackling Extremism in the UK", DfE's "Teaching Approaches that help Build Resilience to Extremism among Young People" and Peter Clarke's Report of July 2014.

 the physical, mental health and emotional well-being of children; the protection of children from harm and neglect; the education, training and recreation of children; the contribution made by them to society; and their social and economic well-being.*

2. School Ethos and Practice

When operating this policy Crestwood Community School uses the following accepted Governmental definition of extremism which is:

'Vocal or active opposition to fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect and tolerance of different faiths and beliefs; and/or calls for the death of members of our armed forces, whether in this country or overseas'.

There is no place for extremist views of any kind in our school, whether from internal sources — students, staff or governors, or external sources - school community, external agencies or individuals. Our students see our school as a safe place where they can explore controversial issues safely and where our teachers encourage and facilitate this — we have a duty to ensure this happens.

As a school we recognise that extremism and exposure to extremist materials and influences can lead to poor outcomes for children and so should be addressed as a safeguarding concern as set out in this policy. We also recognise that if we fail to challenge extremist views we are failing to protect our students.

Extremists of all persuasions aim to develop destructive relationships between different communities by promoting division, fear and mistrust of others based on ignorance or prejudice and thereby limiting the life chances of young people. Education is a powerful weapon against this; equipping young people with the knowledge, skills and critical thinking, to challenge and debate in an informed way.

Therefore, at Crestwood Community School we will provide a broad and balanced curriculum, delivered by skilled professionals, so that our students are enriched, understand and become tolerant of difference and diversity and also to ensure that they thrive, feel valued and not marginalised.

Furthermore, Crestwood Community School are aware that young people can be exposed to extremist influences or prejudiced views from an early age which emanate from a variety of sources and media, including via the internet, and at times students may themselves reflect or display views that may be discriminatory, prejudiced or extremist, including using derogatory language.

Any prejudice, discrimination or extremist views, including derogatory language, displayed by students or staff will always be challenged and where appropriate dealt with in line with our Behaviour Management Policy for students and the Code of Conduct for staff. Where misconduct by a teacher is proven the matter will be referred to the LADO.

As part of wider safeguarding responsibilities school staff will be alert to:

- Disclosures by students of their exposure to the extremist actions, views or materials of others outside of school, such as in their homes or community groups, especially where students have not actively sought these out;
- Graffiti symbols, writing or art work promoting extremist messages or images;
- Students accessing extremist material online, including through social networking sites;
- Parental reports of changes in behaviour, friendship or actions and requests for assistance;
- Partner schools, local authority services, police reports of issues affecting students in other schools or settings;
- Students voicing opinions drawn from extremist ideologies and narratives;
- Use of extremist or 'hate' terms to exclude others or incite violence;
- Intolerance of difference, whether secular or religious or, in line with our equalities policy, views based on, but not exclusive to, gender, disability, homophobia, race, colour or culture;
- Attempts to impose extremist views or practices on others;
- Anti-western or Anti-British views.

Our school will closely follow any locally agreed procedure as set out by the Local Authority and/or Hampshire's Safeguarding Children Board's agreed processes and criteria for safeguarding individuals vulnerable to extremism and radicalisation.

At Crestwood Community School, we have determined "British Values" to be:

- Democracy
- The rule of law
- Individual liberty
- Mutual respect
- Tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs

As a school we aim to develop and nurture these by:

- Planning a vibrant, engaging Assembly programme with core ethical values and beliefs at its heart
- A well-structured Personal Development programme which addresses all of the requirements of the programmes of study (looking at Democracy, Freedom, the rule of law, Human Rights and responsibilities)
- A strong Religious Studies and Ethics programme at every Key Stage
- Effective and well-managed School Parliament enabling students to actively participate in the democratic process

- A broad and balanced curriculum which addresses many of these core values across a range of subject areas
- Having a clearly communicated and consistently applied Behaviour Management Policy so that students understand what is expected of them and the consequences of both meeting and failing to meet these expectations
- A Code of Conduct which is regularly referred to and communicated with students, reiterating that we are a school community built on mutual respect and understanding
- Adopting restorative approaches, where possible, to resolve any difficulties between members of our school community
- Having a rigorous commitment to student safety (for example: trips and visits policy and procedures, Safeguarding procedures, Code of Conduct and Health and Safety procedures)

3. Teaching Approaches

We will all strive to eradicate the myths and assumptions that can lead to some young people becoming alienated and disempowered, especially where the narrow approaches children may experience elsewhere may make it harder for them to challenge or question these radical influences. In our school this will be achieved by good teaching, primarily via PDL; but also by adopting the methods outlined in the Government's guidance 'Teaching approaches that help build resilience to extremism among young people' DfE 2011.

We will ensure that all of our teaching approaches help our students build resilience to extremism and give students a positive sense of identity through the development of critical thinking skills. We will ensure that all of our staff are equipped to recognise extremism and are skilled and confident enough to challenge it.

We will be flexible enough to adapt our teaching approaches, as appropriate, so as to address specific issues so as to become even more relevant to the current issues of extremism and radicalisation.

- Making a connection with young people through good teaching and a student centred approach;
- Facilitating a 'safe space' for dialogue, and
- Equipping our students with the appropriate skills, knowledge, understanding and awareness for resilience.

Therefore this approach will be embedded within the ethos of our school so that students know and understand what safe and acceptable behaviour is in the context of extremism and radicalisation. This will work in conjunction with our school's approach to the Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural development of students as defined in OfSTED's School Inspection Handbook and will include the sound use of assemblies to help further promote this rounded development of our students.

Our goal is to build mutual respect and understanding and to promote the use of dialogue not violence as a form of conflict resolution. We will achieve this by using a curriculum that includes:

- Citizenship programmes;
- Open discussion and debate;
- Work on anti-violence and a restorative approach addressed throughout curriculum and the behaviour policy;
- Focussed educational programmes.

We will also work with local partners, families and communities in our efforts to ensure our school understands and embraces our local context and values in challenging extremist views and to assist in the broadening of our students' experiences and horizons.

We will help support students who may be vulnerable to such influences as part of our wider safeguarding responsibilities and where we believe a student is being directly affected by extremist materials or influences we will ensure that that student is offered mentoring. Additionally in such instances our school will seek external support from the Local Authority and/or local partnership structures working to prevent extremism.

At Crestwood Community School we will promote the values of democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty, mutual respect and tolerance for those with different faiths and beliefs. We will teach and encourage students to respect one another and to respect and tolerate differences, especially those of a different faith or no faith. It is indeed our most fundamental responsibility to keep our students safe and prepare them for life in modern multicultural Britain and globally.

4. Use of External Agencies and Speakers

At Crestwood Community School we encourage the use of external agencies or speakers to enrich the experiences of our students. However we will positively vet those external agencies, individuals or speakers who we engage to provide such learning opportunities or experiences for our students.

Crestwood Community School is committed to providing students with an environment where freedom of expression and speech (within the law) are protected, but balanced with the need to ensure that the provider is free from harm and hatred.

In the context of the school, an external speaker is defined as anyone who is not a member of staff.

Crestwood Community School is aware of its responsibilities to have due regard to the need to prevent people from being drawn in to terrorism, placing a proportionate amount of consideration on its policies and procedures.

The approval of external speakers and the use of premises WILL NOT be denied on the grounds of policy or belief. The school seeks to ensure that the policy is embedded within day to day practices, policies and procedures throughout the college.

These external agencies will be vetted to ensure that we do not unwittingly use agencies that contradict each other with their messages or that are inconsistent with, or are in complete opposition to, the school's values and ethos. We must be aware that in some instances the work of external agencies may not directly be connected with the rest of the school curriculum so we need to ensure that this work is of benefit to students.

Our school will assess the suitability and effectiveness of input from external agencies or individuals to ensure that:

- Any messages communicated to students are consistent with the ethos of the school and do not marginalise any communities, groups or individuals;
- Any messages do not seek to glorify criminal activity or violent extremism or seek to radicalise students through extreme or narrow views of faith, religion or culture or other ideologies;
- Activities are properly embedded in the curriculum and clearly mapped to schemes of work to avoid contradictory messages or duplication;

- Activities are matched to the needs of students;
- Activities are carefully evaluated by schools to ensure that they are effective.

We recognise, however, that the ethos of our school is to encourage students to understand opposing views and ideologies, appropriate to their age, understanding and abilities, and to be able to actively engage with them in informed debate, and we may use external agencies or speakers to facilitate and support this.

Therefore by delivering a broad and balanced curriculum and enrichment programme augmented by the use of external sources where appropriate, we will strive to ensure our students recognise risk and build resilience to manage any such risk themselves where appropriate to their age and ability but also to help students develop the critical thinking skills needed to engage in informed debate.

The school maintains its responsibility to comply with the Human Rights Act (1998) and the Education (No.2) Act (1986) allowing staff and students their freedom of speech and expression, particularly in the context of academic freedom to question and put forward new ideas including controversial or unpopular opinions, Education Reform Act (1988). This must co-exist with the due regard to prevent people from being drawn into terrorism, Counter-Terrorism and Security Act (2015).

The school has a duty to safeguard information that it holds on individuals, so as not put them at risk through disclosure and therefore complies with the Data Protection Act (1998). The school seeks to comply with all relevant legislation and is also informed by:

- The Equality Act (2010)
- Terrorism Act (2000, 2006, 2008)
- Public Order Act (1986)
- Protection from Harassment Act (1997)
- The Crime and Disorder Act (1998)
- The Racial and Religious Hatred Act (2006)
- Consumer Rights Act (1998)

The majority of external speakers' requests will be straightforward and can be authorised by the Designated Safeguarding Lead. However where any concerns are raised the referral will be further considered by the Core SLT.

Prior to the confirmation of an external speaker, the event organiser will be responsible for gathering the following information on the External Speaker/Event Authorisation Form found in the appendices.

The form will ensure staff assess the speaker against the following set of questions:

1. Has the speaker been prevented from speaking at Crestwood or previously known to express views that may be in breach of the external speaker code of conduct?
2. Does the proposed title or theme of the event present a potential risk that views/opinions expressed by the speaker(s) may be in breach of the external speaker code of conduct?
3. Is the proposed speakers theme likely to attract attendance from individuals/groups that have previously been known to express views that may be in breach of the external speaker code of conduct?

If the answer to all three questions is NO, then the event organiser can book the external speaker for the event or lecture (a copy of the external speaker's code of conduct should be sent at this stage).

If the answer to any of the questions is UNCLEAR, then the event organiser must seek guidance from the DSL whose responsibility it will be to further review the speaker(s) against the questions above.

Ultimately, if the answer to any of the questions is YES, then it is the responsibility of the event organiser to submit a referral to the DSL

Through completion of the External Speaker/Event Authorisation Form staff will be guided through the necessary steps at each stage of the assessment. Staff should alert the DSL to any concerns as soon as they are able to provide the necessary time to investigate the case before the scheduled attendance/event. Where potential concerns have been highlighted and this is not possible then the speaker/event will have to be cancelled.

Crestwood reserves the right to not permit an external speaker to speak or attend an event, to refuse to permit an event and/or to halt an event at any time if it reasonably considers there may be a breach of the external speaker policy or of any legal obligation.

In line with relevant law, Crestwood Community School will share information with other relevant institutions regarding external speakers and events.

5. Whistle Blowing

Where there are concerns of extremism or radicalisation Students, Staff and Governors will be encouraged to make use of our internal systems to Whistle Blow or raise any issue in confidence. They must inform the Headteacher straight away (or if it relates to the Headteacher inform the Chair of Governors).

6. Safeguarding

Please refer to our Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy for the full procedural framework on our Safeguarding and Child Protection duties.

Staff at Crestwood Community School will be alert to the fact that whilst Extremism and Radicalisation is broadly a safeguarding issue there may be some instances where a child or children may be at direct risk of harm or neglect. For example; this could be due to a child displaying risky behaviours in terms of the activities they are involved in or the groups they are associated with or staff may be aware of information about a child's family that may equally place a child at risk of harm. (These examples are for illustration and are not definitive or exhaustive).

Therefore, all adults working in Crestwood Community School (including visiting staff, volunteers' contractors, and students on placement) are required to report instances where they believe a child may be at risk of harm or neglect to the Designated Safeguarding Lead or Headteacher.

In Crestwood Community School our Safeguarding reporting arrangements are set out fully in our Safeguarding Policy.

The Designated Safeguarding Lead is: Tim Nash - tim.nash@crestwood.hants.sch.uk /07780 216589

7. Online Safety

With increasing concerns about radicalisation of young people there is a need to actively challenge extremist views and prevent young people being drawn into terrorism. Keeping children safe from harm includes keeping them safe from extreme ideologies and behaviours.

As an organisation working with children and young people, we must have an awareness of the potential influences of extremist ideology and the risks of radicalisation. This means knowing the children and young people you work with well, the dynamics of peer groups, their families and the local community (considering also contextual safeguarding).

An important part of keeping people safe is protecting them from those who may try to groom and exploit them. Grooming happens when someone takes advantage of another person by persuading them to think and do things that they would not otherwise do. This can include encouraging someone to develop support for extremist ideas, these may be political, religious or other causes. The person being groomed may be encouraged to feel anger and intolerance towards other people, groups or communities. People exposed to these forms of grooming can become radicalised. They may come to believe that actions need to be taken to advance their ideas, including violence. In very extreme cases they may come to support terrorist activity.

People can be radicalised in many ways, including through the internet, social media and online gaming sites. It can happen to anyone, although some people may be more vulnerable because of factors such as:

- being isolated from family, friends or the community
- experiencing discrimination, bullying or harassment
- having a grievance against a person, group or cause

Radicalisation can happen over anything from a few days to several years. The signs to look out for include:

- becoming more secretive, especially around internet use
- spending increasing amounts of time communicating with friends they have met online
- becoming isolated from family and friends
- developing a fixation on a particular subject
- expressing intolerance or hatred of other people or communities
- changing appearance to reflect association with a group or cause
- expressing thoughts about harming or using violence towards others

When someone becomes radicalised it can endanger their safety and welfare, and the safety and welfare of those around them. By intervening early you can ensure that the person you are concerned about receives support to keep them safe, preventing them from further radicalisation. Support is provided by a range of organisations which work together to safeguard and protect people from those who seek to radicalise them.

360 Degree Safe is a tool intended to enable schools to self review their online safety policy and practice. Further information can be found <https://360safe.org.uk/>

In the appendices there is a list of keywords which have been added to our filtering system. These support online safety to prevent radicalisation. This list is not exhaustive and is always being adapted following guidance from Hampshire Prevent Partnership Board and Government guidance.

SCC Process explained

Behaviours that cause concern

There are many emotional, verbal and/ or physical behaviours which might give cause for concern about a person's welfare. They do not necessarily indicate someone is being radicalised. They are just a broad guide to help identify someone who may be vulnerable.

Emotional

- Becoming Disrespectful
- Unhealthy interest in violence as a legitimate form of expression
- Crying
- Quick to anger
- Having mood swings
- Becoming secretive or withdrawn
- Signs of stress

Verbal

- Verbalising or promoting information, language or statements that are hateful
- Could be seen as racist or prejudiced
- Scripted speech
- Asking inappropriate questions
- Dehumanise other people
- Challenging others on their beliefs
- Pushing an ideology aggressively

Physical

- Clothing, tattoos or paraphernalia associated with extremist, radical or hateful ideologies
- Isolation from friends
- Unhealthy use of the internet/visiting extremist or radical websites
- Change in friendship groups or behaviour, including associations with gangs, county lines or exploitative people
- Writing or displaying racist graffiti
- Absenteeism or poor attendance from school
- Spending more time in online chatrooms

A city of opportunity where everyone thrives

Additional aspects for consideration

Examples of behaviours attached to vulnerability

Please note: This is not an exhaustive list, all or none may be present in individual cases. The following examples and factors have been provided to support school professionals to understand and identify factors that may suggest a child, young person, their family, or an adult may be vulnerable to or be involved with extremism.

Fixated on a subject	Closed to new ideas/conversations
Very vocal or very quiet/secretive	Saying inappropriate things
Scripted speech.	Call to violent action
Depressed	Short tempered
Absence	New-found arrogance
Angry	Change of routine/ appearance
Withdrawn	Online activity

Examples of Factors which may contribute to vulnerability to radicalisation:

- Personal trauma
- Peer pressure
- Extremist influences – online/in person
- Poverty, disadvantage, social exclusion
- Identity confusion
- Victim of/witness to hate crime
- Rejected by peer, faith, social group, or family

Consider discussing concerns with parent:

- Explain concerns and enquire into family circumstances and vulnerabilities that might exist in the wider family
- Assess whether risk can be resolved within school
- Consider support from your local Police beat Officer or Prevent Lead.

If the risk/issue cannot be resolved in-house:

- Follow your school's child protection procedures and make a referral using the National Referral Form
- Explain to parents/carers that appropriate actions will have to be taken i.e. making a referral
- Be reassuring
- Use a collaborative approach: 'How can we help you?'
- Provide information on Prevent, i.e. website addresses
- Get advice + guidance from MASH if required.
- Have a look at the Schools Prevent Toolkit
- RECORD – ANALYSE - ASSESS and continue cycle

Consider the following when a referral is made to Prevent?

- What support can be provided via the school to the child?
- What support can Children's services provide?
- What support can the school expect from Counter Terrorism Police?
- Consider briefing other staff to manage on-going risks
- Maintain records relating to other agency interventions
- RECORD – ANALYSE - ASSESS and continue cycle
